Foreword

As you turn the pages in this book, you can gain a conception of the pattern of our school life. Although, this book, TREASURED MEMORIES, stands as proof of a year of work, it also gives you an idea of the events that have made and filled our years in school.

True, there have been times when work and disappointment flooded over us, but then gaiety and happiness lifted us out of our gloom to carry us on to many successes.

We are happy to present TREASURED MEMORIES to our friends as a Thank You for your co-operation through the years.

GRACE HILL
Editor-in-Chief

Dedication

To, Miss Carolyn Parrish, the Seniors of 1954 do wish to dedicate the sixth edition of "Treasured Memories" in appreciation for the loyalty that she has shown to us, and for the guidance that has lead to success, not only in athletics, but in the problems of our every day life.

Class History

They say, history repeats itself, but the history this class has made can NEVER be repeated! The events that have made up our school life belong to us and can never be lived again.

In 1942, Mrs. Ernest Aycock tackled the difficult job of teaching us to read and write. In our second year of school we were divided. Mrs. Atwood Uzzle and Miss Margaret Stephenson were our teachers of the combination grades. Then came the third grade with lovely Mrs. S. R. Cotton and Miss Julia Grant who carried us through our first stages of arithmetic and English. We were happily reunited in the fourth grade with Miss Dorothy Poston. Through her teaching we enjoyed trips to Bagdad and other phases of geography. It was to our gain for Grace Hill and Grady Hill to join us this year. We were separated again in the fifth and sixth grades. Mrs. Nelson Wilson and Mrs. Hinnant were our teachers. Betsy Uzzle and Audrey Boykin joined us this year. By this time we had taken part in chapel programs including Christmas pageants. Mrs. Howard Mitchiner taught only girls in the seventh grade while Mr. John Thompson taught the boys and remaining girls. It was this year the girls were allowed to wear a slight touch of lipstick. Again in the eighth grade we were reunited with Mrs. Nelson Wilson. While she coached high school girls' basketball, Mrs. Carl Parrish taught us arithmetic and gave us our first touch of algebra.

Mr. Milton Clarke taught us in the ninth grade. The change from grammar to high school didn't affect us too much. In the tenth grade Mrs. Ben Parrish left us near the half of the year and Miss Carolyn Parrish replaced her. If we had listened more to Mr. Uzzle in the ninth grade we would have been more able to have worked the difficult problem in Algebra. Finally, we reached the second round to the top of the ladder--our Junior year. Mrs. Carl K. Parrish won the hearts of each one with her kindness and personality. Walter Holt joined us and Jane Britt left for summer school, but she will get her diploma with us. The task of making money was aided by the magazine sale and the Halloween Carnival which were a great success. The day which we had been waiting for finally arrived when our class rings came. Our class play, "Zeke and Daisy," was also a success. Finally, the greatest event of all came when we dressed in our evening gowns and best suits for the Junior and Senior Banquet. We were given the honor of singing in the Rose Arbor Possession to the seniors at graduation. At last, we have reached the top of the ladder and entered our senior year with the guidance of lovable Mrs. Jim Uzzle. It was under the careful instruction of Mrs. Uzzle and Mrs. Kirby Rose that our Senior Play, "Jane Eyre," was a great success. There were exciting times during the days when we were deciding on our calling cards, caps and gowns and invitations. The annual proved to be a great problem, but it was with great joy we published this sixth edition of "Treasured Memories." We were very happy to have Vinette Stevens, Betty Perry and Tommy Meece join us this year. At Christmas we were entertained at the home of Mrs. Uzzle with a delicious supper. We enjoyed the Hippodrome at the Coliseum. We were really honored in grand style at the banquet given by the Juniors. We are planning to visit Washington after graduation which will bring to an end the line of joyful events which have bound each of us so close and made our days at the grand old school--the happiest days of our life!

Prophecy

It certainly is amazing what can happen over a period of six years. As my boss, who was to speak at a meeting in Smithfield, and I were driving along the road from Clayton to Wilson's Mills something happened to the car and we were forced to stop. Since we happened to be in front of a newly-built house, we decided to go in and ask to use the phone in order to call the nearest garage. Who should appear at the door but Vinette Stevens and she informed me that Grady Hill had opened up a garage in Wilson's Mills and had a very successful business. Well, we completed the call and soon we were at Hill's Garage. Dennis Powell, home on leave from the Navy, was having his car washed. After talking with Dennis a minute, I decided to take a look around town. From the first new building I heard music so I decided to investigate. Inside I saw a large group of boys and girls moving to the rhythm. They told me that their instructor was in her office. When I heard it was Betsy Uzzle, I felt I must intrude. She was being interviewed by Flora Harper, feature writer for the Wilson's Mills Gossiper published by none other than Carl Stevens. I learned from these two that Anna and Tommy Meece were the proud parents of twins and were making their home in Raleigh. They told me that aside from household duties, Sarah Turnage was a nurse and Phyllis Puckett directed The Glee Club at school. Flora told me that Nelda Williams was now Mrs. Linwood Barnes, but that came as no shock. Betsy said that Audrey Boykin was illustrating children's books. Lillie Mae Johnson and Sue Lassiter were sharing an apartment in Raleigh, both holding positions as a secretary. I asked them if they knew where Shirley Puckett had settled and that is how I found out that she was now manager of Rose's Dime Store in Smithfield. Betty Perry had suddenly taken a trip to New York, because she had been offered a job as receptionist by a young lawyer. I inquired about Grace Hill and discovered that she was a commercial instructor at Four Oaks High School. I told Flora and Betsy that I had heard that Gwen Langdon had been sent to Florida to take pictures for the magazine which employs her as a photographer. I hated to leave the girls but the car was ready to drive. I was looking at an issue of the Gossiper that Flora gave me and there on the front page I read that Walter Holt was the star in the new television show, "TROUBLE ON THE HIGHWAY." After reading that, I just sat there thinking how wonderful it was that the Class of "54" had found their respected places in society and were as happy now as we were in our unforgettable Senior year.

DREAMERS

We are now leaving our dear old school,
How we shall miss you and each golden rule,
Sounds of the rude world, heard in the day,
All will be forgotten along the way,
Dearest of friends, deep in my heart,
How we shall miss you as today we depart,
Gone are the cares of school's busy throng,
Forgetting; forgiving each little wrong,
Now our new life, we greet with a song.

We will be lonely for a while,
How we shall miss everyone's dearest smile,
Cares of the new life will take away,
All but the sweetness of the gone by day.
Memories sweet, beam on my heart
Till all the clouds of our sorrow depart.
There shall our memory then recall,
Our days spent here were the dearest of all,
Our days spent here were the dearest of all.

OUR STAR

Our apprenticeship is over and done,
We look yonder to a new day sun,
Rising on the life we've strived to obtain,
Since we hitched our wagon to a star
Started upward--upward so far
Working our way our distance goal to gain.

Now as we have reached our silver star,
We look back on the life left so far
The days that we will forever treasure
The time called then, "just another day
In which to travel our weary way."
But yet, they were filled with joy full measure.

Thus, these years of experience we must heed,
As we start on the life we've to lead,
The life that starts right now at a star
A star that took years of work to obtain,
That gives nothing to lose, all to gain,
May it carry each one very far.

DREAM TO COME TRUE

Competitive basketball seems to be the first thought of the school and its supporters. This is only natural since every one wants to support their school in its main activities. However, physical education in other forms has been greatly encouraged through the Health course in high school.

There has been given conclusive evidence that a physical education building and two classrooms will be built here at our school by next term. These much needed additions will certainly not be made too soon, because the need of them is becoming more evident each day. A physical education plant will certainly make for improvements in our teams and the classrooms will add space for a larger curriculum.

Boy's Basketball

Glee Club

Our Glee Club is two years old. It has enlarged considerably from the past year under the leadership of Mrs. Newland Crocker. The officers are: President, Flora Harper; Vice President, Grace Hill; Secretary-Treasurer, Sarah Turnage; Pianist, Phyllis Puckett. The club has worked much with part singing, which has proved successful. Public performances were made at the Senior Play, Christmas and at the Womanless Wedding. We are hoping the Glee Club will continue to grow and improve. This is one phase of our school activities we have long hoped to acquire.

Youth Club

The Youth Club is a favorite organization with high school students. It is fast growing with many new members this year. It meets every first and third Monday night of each month, under the supervision of Miss Meta Barnes Uzzle and Mrs. John A. Wilson. The Homemakers Club sponsors the group and assists with serving once a month.

The officers for this year are: President, Betsy Uzzle; Vice President, Faye Johnson; Secretary, Lillian Wood; Treasurer, Meta Barnes Uzzle.

In Conclusion

There are many pages in this book, but try as we could we would never be able to get into its covers all of the school's work. It is our most sincere of hopes that through "TREASURED MEMORIES," you will be able to get a glimpse of our school life and its value to the community.

This book represents the co-operation of the school and its patrons with the Senior Class. All the work and time that we have put into it has indeed been our greatest pleasure, for it is our desire to leave something as a "remembrance" of our school days.
